

DAILY PENNY

1d

THE GREAT ESCAPE!

Early on the morning of Tuesday 25th – in John Street – a boy from a local workhouse made his ruthless escape.

A boy (named Jim Jarvis) made his escape because he apparently was badly treated. Our sources tell us there was a guard close by but the boy was as fast as a fox. Despite the boy being ten, he found a way out of the guarded workhouse. Mr Sissons – who gave us his file – said that he tripped over the curb and hurt his knee.

We found out that one of the women witnessed this disgraceful event. “I swear that my beady eyes were watching him like a hawk.”

We are now putting up wanted posters (the reward is £200).

Even though we didn’t witness this event we found out from a local cart-driver that when he was leaving, the boy sneaked round the back of the workhouse and made his escape.

People around say that this was a peculiar event. Here is what the head said: “When I heard I was furious! Despite our attempts to keep the workhouse heavily guarded, we failed.”

Witnesses told us that during the event Mrs Harris (the woman there) almost just let him run away. Jim, who was the runaway, made it to the farm, until we failed to maintain visual contact. Jim worked hard to get out of the workhouse and now he is free and on the run.

Jim Jarvis